

Election in New York When Woman Casts a Ballot; A Bugs Baer Forecast

There Will Be Six Parties in the Field, the Blondopublican Party, the Brunettocratic, the Bon-Bon and the Whist, Sewing and Euchre Parties, the latter of which will be Progressive—And the Scandals That Will Crop Out When the High Heelerettes Start the Squabbling Over the Rival Candidates for Mayorettes and Governette and When the Notorious Peroxide Ring Is Shown Up and There Is Rioting at Buylar's Over the Chocolate Graft and Because the Voterettes Fail to Get the Expected Heliotrope Scented Bribes!

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer.

October 1917. In the press following on the New York election news, it was noted that New York has gone co-ed, we are liable to have some very pink voting at the next election for Mayorettes and Governette of York. There has been some continual squabbling between the Republican and Brunettocratic Parties, and the indignant shrill voices have organized the Bon-Bon Party and will run on an independent ticket.

This makes the sixth party in the tournament, the other three being Whist, Sewing and Euchre Parties. The Euchre Party is progressive.

No trouble started when Countess

Wrong accused her powdered countenance of erasing the girlish contours from 200 of the Countess' red ballots. Her opponent denied charge and insisted that the Miss Wrong's henchmen placed beauty marks in the wrong. The Countess is the bane of the rouged ballot and is the Count of Wrong, the well-known election judge who was elected to Howell's Island at the last election. Candidate Letta Pickett Wright also had some difficulty with her constituents in the Sewing Party and in her perfumed resignation, Mrs. Wright was Letta Pickett before she decided to run on the same ballot with Wright. The wedding was one of the most charming political events of winter voting season. In addition to country booth in the Heliotrope mountains, the Wrights have a town setting booth on Riverside Drive. The wedding charter contained the amendment that the children should be brought up as Republicans, as the bride has been one of the bluest of the Blondopublican Party since she made her debut as a waddling heeler in the old days of the notorious Peroxide ring. After the wedding the Wrights went on a honeymoon throughout the Middle West, making speeches in Minnesota, Utah, Montana and Reno. Mrs. Wright made most of the speeches, and Mr. Wright decided to stay in Reno.

Letta has been the backbone of the Blondopublican party, and her latest campaigning genius shows most of it. She brought into fame when she made her famous taunt speech at the Palm Beach convention. She is a vivacious candidate and looks like an ideal politician under an artificial light.

However, she lost quite a few votes by rashly making a speech in the strong sun.

The famous blue letters which caused the defeat of Vera Nice are also attracting much attention. Vera ran for Governor of New York against J. Winfield Jones, and would have made an ideal executive. Although she freckles very easily, her complexion just matches the interior decorations at Albany. It will be remembered that it cost the State $2,000,000 to re-elect the Governor of the Gubernatorial booth where ex-Governor Curtis Dugan resigned because the Speaker of the House copied her exclusive banner.

WELLS, girls and fellow citizens, we've got the gate when she demands that Vixion was a paramount issue of the campaign. The blue letters fell into the lily white hands of the opposition, who published them in the Gentleman's Household Journal. The letters were the correspondence between Vera and Geraldine Flapper, who was Vera's opponent. Geraldine was in favor of votes for men and other insects, which was ridiculous.

The blue letters proved conclusively that Vera hired Philadelphia thugs to walk over to New York and intimidate voters. They were armed with heavy powder puffs and gave the voters some very brutal looks. Although Vera comes from an undiscernible family she must have had a one-way ticket and came a very long way.

Anyway, the letters were written on very common stationery. Gather round, girls, and see if you can keep a secret. Here are several of the earlier letters:

Your communication received and I would advise you that it will be impossible to swing my district unless a card of dress patterns is sent immediately.

There will be considerable rioting in my district owing to the fact that some of the voterettes are dissatisfied with the terrible green color of the campaign literature. Please print your next announcements on purple paper. I must consider your proposal as I never took an unctuous bribe in my political career.

I had Cataract for thirty years, I doctored with a great many doctors and took all the patent medicines that I heard of. At last, I went to Hattie, who is a "Fruit-a-tive" advertised. I commenced taking them in 1913 and kept them on for a year and my cataract was entirely relieved. I travel for the office, as it is an awful place to live. The "Fruit-a-tives" helped me in other ways, also.
